The Advisement Services Center seeks to contribute to and enhance undergraduate students' success by encouraging informed decision-making about academic direction in a supportive way.

The University requires that every student meet with their advisor every semester through graduation to assist students in taking advantage of all that UAlbany has to offer.

Students are assigned an academic advisor in the Advisement Services Center as freshmen, and work with that advisor until declaring or being admitted into a major.

Declared majors receive advisement through their academic departments.

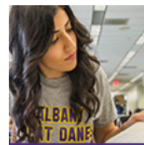

The Advisement Services Center offers walk-in consultations with academic advisors to all undergraduates, to supplement mandatory meetings with departmental advisors.

THE 4TH PLANET

Named after the Roman God of War, Mars seems to be the next ideal and logical step to push humanity further into space exploration.

Also known as the 'Red Planet,' it's temperatures range from -175°F on a winter night to 70°F on a Summer day near the equator.

MARS

a second home.

OLYMPUS MONS

13.6 miles high, making it the tallest known volcano in our Solar System

Has 2 impact craters, 9.7mi and 6.5mi wide in diameter

VALLES MARINERIS

Thought to be a large tectonic "crack" in the Martian crust, the Valles Marineris is 2500 miles long and 7 miles deep

Also known to the largest known canyon in our Solar System!

POLAR ICE CAPS

One of the few planets with ice caps on both sides of the hemisphere, Mar's ice caps are mostly made out of water ice, but can change to dry ice (carbon dioxide) depending on the season.

It's diameter ranges from 621 miles, during summer periods, and increases as more carbon dioxide freezes
